Sustainable Financial Services for a Developing Rural Economy: Establishing Needs and Prospects for Growth through Microfinance Institutions (MFIs)

K.C. Sharma¹ and D. D. Tewari²

¹Bankers Institute of Rural Development, Lucknow, India
²Faculty of Commerce, Administration and Law, University of Zululand, Private Bag X1001, 3886 KwaDlangezwa, South Africa

ABSTRACT Financial exclusion of poor in rural areas of a developing country such as India is a major bottleneck in generating economic growth. The study suggests that building micro-finance institutional network would mitigate the effects of financial exclusions to a great extent and help generate economic growth in rural areas and in particular the marginal and poor villagers who are entrepreneurial but lack the wherewithal.