

A Study on Fetal Wastage and Blood Groups in a Bengalee Population

Arup Ratan Bandopadhaya

Department of Anthropology, University of Calcutta, Calcutta 700 019, India

KEYWORDS ABO Blood Groups. Heterogeneity. Incompatibility

ABSTRACT In the present paper, blood samples of abortive parents of the newborn (1814) were studied for the ABO blood groups. Abortive mothers and their husbands showed heterogeneity in the distribution of this blood group system. The distribution of the fetal death and newborns was found to be statistically significant between the ABO compatible and the ABO incompatible matings.