

Socio-Economic Heterogomy and Marital Satisfaction

K. Vaijayanthimala¹, K. Bharati Kumari² and Bharati Panda³

1. *Department of Home Science, Women's College, Berhampur 760 001,
Orissa, India*

2. Department of Psychology, Jamia Millia Islamia University, New Delhi, India

3. *P.G. Department of Home Science, Sambalpur University, JV, Burla 768 019,
Orissa, India*

KEYWORDS Heterogomy. Consensus. Spouse Difference

ABSTRACT In the present study, an attempt has been made to study the association between some of the socio-economic heterogamous variables and marital satisfaction of working women. Data were collected from the 150 working women, working as doctors, nurses and lecturers from the district of Orissa, India.

Home

Back
