KEYWORDS Household accident; education; homemaker; safety; productive life

ABSTRACT Accident is an event that takes place without foresight or expectation and results in some type of personal and/or damage to equipment or property loss in terms of a productive life like doctor, engineer etc. from the society as well as in terms of prevention and medical treatment. At home, homemaker establishes the safety rules and regulation, for the safety of each and every member of her home, but if all the causes of the accidents were always foreseeable there would be no accident at all. The homemaker must have knowledge regarding safety and must follow safety practices. Thus, the present investigation was undertaken to find out the frequency of occurrences of household accidents.
