

Children and the Use of Social Space:
Some Anthropological Considerations Over Nature and Nurture in Cross-Cultural Contexts

R.E.S.Tanner

*The Footprint, Padworth Common, Reading, Berks. RG7 4QG, United Kingdom
Telephone: 0118-9701190; E-mail: restanner@kutkai.fsnet.co.uk*

KEYWORDS Open-Door. Closed-Door. Safety. Hierarchy of Needs

ABSTRACT Cross-culturally there is little individualised use of space by children and it is dictated by considerations of safety, range of sight, house and compound construction and familial social requirements.